FRENCH TIGER IN IMPASSIONED TALK GIVES FRENCH VIEW

"HAD FRANCE FORESEEN GERMAN DELINQUENCY IN REPARATION PAYMENTS

FOCH WOULD HAVE MARCHED ON TO BERLIN; PERSHING WITH HIM, TOO"

(By United Press)
New York, Nov. 22.—America's answer to Georges Clemenceau's plea that she return to the aid of France to preserve world peace, was conveyed to the "father of victory" today in reports on the first editorial comment and other expressions of opinion on his speech at the Metropolitan Opera house.

The Tiger arose at 5:15 a. m. after his vigorous evening on the platform, and after orders were issued that all comment on his appeal be gathered and put in shape to be studied, he set about translating his own address of last night from English into French. Clemenceau's speech, delivered before an audience of 4,000, including many of America's best minded leaders in business, finance, politics and other fields, was regarded as one of the frankest declarations on record concerning international relations.

He warned that German monarchists such as Ludendorff and Hindenburg are preparing to overthrow the government and establish a monarchy—a prelude to further wars.

The great war, he said, was as much the affair of America as of France, but the United States left before the whole matter was cleared up. France has been destroyed as the result of the peace afterward. If Foch had foreseen that Germany would not pay up reparations and would flout the Versailles treaty, he would have marched on to Berlin, Clemenceau said, adding that General Pershing would have gone with him.

Pershing was on the platform. Padewski, former premier of Poland, heard the speech from a box. The audience broke into applause repeatedly during the address. The name of Woodrow Wilson was cheered for about a minute. One man in the gallery who interrupted and yelled "Yes, Yes," when Clemenceau asked whether one feared the French army was being kept up for aggressive purposes, evoked a chorus of "throw him out," but the Tiger talked on right through the disturbance as if serenely unconscious of it.

The Tiger undoubtedly scored a great personal triumph. "You left before the contract was finished, and you said 'execute it as you may,'" the old French patriarch emphatically declared of the United States.

"And you were wrong in that you left without any proposal whatever. When American people had been mixing their blood—I am not speaking of the goods of the world, but their own blood—on the field of battle, they have no right to leave if there is a difference without trying to adjust that difference.

"You broke all the organs of economic solidarity—now we hear that we had better pay what we owe. Certainly, I do not want you to believe that we are such people that do not pay our debts. The question is really non-existent.

"If America," continued Clemenceau, "could take upon it in some way to renew conversations with England and France, not to give a promise of anything that would engage the future that we had not intimated during the war. If you could have faith and simply say 'Let us establish a plan on what is to be done,' and when we have established it, we should take into consideration guarantees. The moment it does, it will do much to restore things to a more normal state."

St. Paul, Nov. 22.—Governor Preus in a proclamation today urged the wide observance of American Education week, December 3 to 9.

FREEDOM OF THE DARDANELLES IS DISCUSSED TODAY

SUBJECT UP BEFORE THE TURKISH PEACE CONFERENCE IN LAUSANNE

AMERICAN OBSERVERS SIT IN AT MEETING OF COMMITTEE NUMBER 1

(By United Press)
Lausanne, Nov. 22.—The freedom of the Dardanelles was taken up at the Turkish peace conference today. American observers sat in at the meeting of committee Number 1 at which the discussion took place and watched the proceedings closely.

A resolution was made for a purely civil regime for Constantinople under the supervision of an international commission appointed by the League of Nations.

Under the plan proposed the allies would not be permitted to maintain garrisons along the Dardanelles or Bosphorus.

Turkey was requested to pledge the perpetual freedom of the straits both for merchant and war vessels except in the eventuality of a war in which Turkey might itself be a belligerent.

GIVES SENATE SOME OLD FASHIONED ADVICE

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 22.—A woman clothed with all the powers of senatorial office spoke on the floor of the United States senate today for the first time in the history of the country.

Mrs. W. H. Felton, the grand old lady of Georgia, who fought her way to a seat in the senate for a day in order to "blaze" the trail for the women of America, gave the dignified and austere senate some good old fashioned grandmotherly advice and then resigned in favor of her elected successor, Walter F. George.

Letter Threatens Tiger's Life

New York, Nov. 22.—A letter threatening the life of Georges Clemenceau was received today at the home of Charles Dana Gibson, where the Tiger is staying.

"Don't you dare say too much about our country and Germany," the letter read in part. "If you don't heed our orders you will hear bullets flying around your head.

"We are sick of your poison poisoning the minds of our people."

CUNO COMPLETES GERMAN CABINET

ONLY FOREIGN MINISTER PORTFOLIO UNAWARD—LIST IS SUBMITTED TO EBERT

Berlin, Nov. 22.—With the exception of the foreign affairs portfolio, Wilhelm Cuno has announced the completion of the formation of a new cabinet, which was to be submitted to President Ebert. It will go to the reichstag Thursday. It is clearly a bourgeois government, in fact to the extent where the central party (Dr. Joseph Wirth's), has permitted the participation of Herr Hermes on the understanding that it is a supercabinet.

Herr Hugo reiterate the statement that the cabinet program is based upon the note to the reparations commission on Nov. 13. Hence, the refusal of the reparations commission to accept the program of reparations as defined therein, will, it is believed, precipitate another crisis.

The cabinet is as follows:
Minister of finance—Herr Hermes.
Minister of the interior—Herr Kar-

orff, industrialist.
Minister of the treasury—Herr Hamm of the Bavarian party.

Minister of national traffic—Herr Cser, democrat.

Minister of economics—Herr Raumer, industrialist.

Minister of public works—Dr. Braun.

Minister of war—Herr Gessler, democrat, a former member of Dr. Wirth's cabinet.

The minister of foreign affairs will be either Dr. Stahmer, German ambassador to London, Herr Nevrath, ambassador to Rome, or Herr Madolny, ambassador to Stockholm.

100,000 MOBILIZE TO PRESENT PLEA TO DOWNING STREET

FOR DAYS PAST UNEMPLOYED CONTINGENTS HAVE DIVERGED ON LONDON

BRITISH PREMIER REFUSED TO RECEIVE DELEGATIONS OF THE MEN

(By United Press)
London, Nov. 22.—An army of unemployed, estimated at a hundred thousand men mobilized today for an attempted march on Downing Street to insist upon its demands being met by the Bonar Law government.

For days past unemployed contingents have been converging on the capital from all directions.

The conservative press takes a sensational view of the situation stating that a communist plot is afoot.

Bonar Law refused to receive representatives of the unemployed and a heavy reserve of police are in readiness to deal with all eventualities.

Barracks used during the Sein Fein activities will repel the invaders if they attempt to storm Downing Street in order to reach the Premier's residence.

The rising temper of labor in England coincides with the election of 150 of their representatives in the new parliament.

2,000 Fight With Police

London, Nov. 22.—Two thousand unemployed fought with mounted and foot police today around the foot of Nelson's monument in Trafalgar square in a vain effort to force their way to the Downing street residence of Premier Bonar Law.

Many were wounded in the milling about the entrance to Whitehall street, while pedestrians fled from the scene of battle and all roads were blocked.

Repeated police charges in which heavy truncheons were wielded freely on the heads and limbs of the struggling unemployed, finally forced the mob back from Whitehall and scattered them for the moment. Hundreds gathered in front of the national gallery.

The battle was the climax of a march of the unemployed upon Downing street. The workless demonstrators sought to carry their cause home to Britain by clamoring at the gates of the premier's house.

Thousands have come in from all parts of the country to take part in the demonstrations.

The unemployed army apparently divided its forces for about 10,000 are believed in the city.

Barricades Thrown Up

Approach by another group from the parliament street end of Whitehall was prepared for by cordons of bobbies who threw up barricades across the end of Downing street.

In 1920 when the unemployed last demonstrated in extravagant manner their army converged on Whitehall from several other directions, some coming down the embankment while others approached from Victoria street.

The unemployed, who had gathered in great numbers in the square about the foot of Nelson's monument, coming in small groups from the east side of the city, where they found shelter for the night, attempted to start a march down Whitehall past the offices of the admiralty and the war department and the forbidden entrance to Scotland Yards. They were met at the north end of Whitehall at a point about 250 yards from Bonar Law's residence by a determined cordon of police, some mounted, and drawn up four deep from sidewalk to sidewalk. The demonstrators tried to rush by their leaders, but were crumpled in heaps before the blue wall while those behind could only shove good-naturedly.

After the first shock had been met and the fight was on, mounted police with truncheons charged at the head of the unemployment ranks. The demonstrators scattered in every direction to keep from beneath the feet of the trained police horses. Many went down, some wounded by being trampled by their fellows in their flight.

The men are Frank Lohr, on parole from prison, former pal of Jay Allan, who was hanged for a double murder in 1920, and Sidney Harre.

URGES SUBSIDY FOR FARMERS TOO

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Nov. 22.—If congress intends to vote a subsidy for ship owners it should play fair and vote a subsidy for farm owners, according to O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner.

Farming is fully as risky as sailing, and farmers face as great losses as ship owners, according to Mr. Jacobson, who has been both a farmer and sailor.

"It is unfair to place an additional tax burden on the people of the central states for the benefit of ship owners in a few states," he said. "Let the states in which the ships are owned vote the subsidy. There should be no favored interests."

St. Paul, Nov. 22.—Railroads of the northwest will have almost their full quota of freight cars by the end of this week, according to P. J. Coleman, district manager car service division, American Railroad association.

At the end of three weeks the roads should have their normal quota, Coleman said. More than 5,000 cars are being sent to the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo lines this week.

SHIP SUBSIDY MEN GAIN FIRST VICTORY

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 22.—Advocates of the ship subsidy bill achieved their first victory in the special session today when the house rules committee voted six to three to report a rule providing for immediate consideration of the measure in the house.

The committee divided on partisan lines, Representatives Campbell of Kansas, Rodenberg of Illinois, Fees of Ohio, Snell of New York, Dale of Vermont and Johnson of South Dakota all republicans, voting to report the measure while Representatives Garrett of Tennessee, Pou of North Carolina and Cantrill of Kentucky opposed it.

CASE OVER CONTRACTS WON BY RAIL SHOPMEN

Chicago, Nov. 22.—By finding for the shopmen and against the carriers in their case against the Western Maryland Railroad company where the question of contracting out shop work is involved, the United States railroad labor board for the first time has deviated from its policy that employees, by striking, take themselves from the jurisdiction of the transporting act.

In the decision issued yesterday the board construed the contracting out shop work as an attempt to remove the employees from the application of the act and directed the carrier to take up the matter of the reinstatement with the employees.

NORTHERN PACIFIC IS TO OPPOSE G. N. ON BURLINGTON MERGER

DONNELLY TO PRESENT ROAD'S STAND AT LATER HEARING, PROBABLY IN MINNEAPOLIS

MILWAUKEE PRESIDENT ADVOCATES COMBINING HIS SYSTEM WITH UNION PACIFIC

Washington Nov. 22.—Charles Donnelly, general counsel for the Northern Pacific railroad, announced that his road would answer the plea of the Great Northern railroad that it should not be divorced from the Burlington railroad if the interstate commerce commission rejected the request of the Hills lines that the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington be included in one system.

May Hold Twin City Hearing
Hearing on the request of the Hill lines for consolidation of the three Hill roads was concluded in Washington. Further hearing will be conducted in Washington or in the west, probably in the twin cities.

Mr. Donnelly declared the Northern Pacific would defend the tentative plan for its consolidation with the Burlington and would oppose being linked with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road as proposed in Professor W. Z. Ripley's draft, which is declared to be favored by the interstate commerce commission.

G. N. Shift Causes Surprise
The Northern Pacific having come here with the Great Northern and Burlington to oppose the commission's tentative plan and urge its consolidation with the other two lines, was unprepared for the Great Northern's shift in tactics. All it could do was to sit by and allow the Great Northern to present its facts and arguments for linking the Great Northern and Burlington and then ask Commissioner Hill to give it time to make its case against the Great Northern.

Louis W. Hill, chairman of the board, and Ralph Budd, president, were heard in behalf of the Great Northern and President H. E. Byram spoke for the Milwaukee road. Mr. Budd completed his testimony begun Saturday to show why the Great Northern rather than the Northern Pacific should be grouped with the Burlington. Mr. Hill was called to the stand by Walker D. Hines, general counsel, to show that James J. Hill worked for and looked on the Great Northern-Burlington combination as one for mutual benefit.

Hill Backs G. N.-C. B. & Q. Merger
Mr. Hill was put on the stand by Mr. Hines to strengthen his contention that the Great Northern and Burlington have been built up to be co-operated.

Mr. Hill told the commission his father had aided the Burlington to get into St. Paul.
Mr. Hill told the commission that when the Northern Pacific and Great Northern set out to buy one of the roads to the south in 1901, his father considered the Burlington the logical one to purchase. The Burlington, James J. Hill believed, would furnish the interchange desired by the Great Northern.

Northern Pacific interests, Mr. Hill said, suggested the Milwaukee road would be a better road to buy. In the end, however, James J. Hill convinced his associates in favor of the Burlington. Mr. Hill said his father, in buying the Burlington, had no fear of its invasion of Great Northern territory, but regarded the two roads as natural supplements and feeders.

St. Paul, Nov. 22.—If congress intends to vote a subsidy for ship owners it should play fair and vote a subsidy for farm owners, according to O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner.

Farming is fully as risky as sailing, and farmers face as great losses as ship owners, according to Mr. Jacobson, who has been both a farmer and sailor.

"It is unfair to place an additional tax burden on the people of the central states for the benefit of ship owners in a few states," he said. "Let the states in which the ships are owned vote the subsidy. There should be no favored interests."

AUTO BANDITS GRAB TRUCK LOAD MAIL IN WINDY CITY

POSTAL AUTHORITIES SAID THE ROBBERS GOT THE WRONG TRUCK

LOAD OF REGISTERED MAIL SOUGHT BY THEM WAS SHIPPED OUT EARLIER

(By United Press)
Chicago, Nov. 22.—A truck load of mail was seized by auto bandits here today who kidnaped the driver and drove away with the mail sacks.

Postal authorities who are checking up the robbery said the robbers help up the wrong truck, that the load of registered mail which left the post office some time previously was the loot sought. The loss will be small, postal officials announced.

The mail was to be sent to Omaha by airplane. The driver of the car was liberated on the north side, twenty miles from the point where he was held up.

CLAIMS FREIGHT CARS IN ABUNDANCE SOON

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Nov. 22.—Railroads of the northwest will have almost their full quota of freight cars by the end of this week, according to P. J. Coleman, district manager car service division, American Railroad association.

At the end of three weeks the roads should have their normal quota, Coleman said. More than 5,000 cars are being sent to the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo lines this week.

SHIP SUBSIDY MEN GAIN FIRST VICTORY

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 22.—Advocates of the ship subsidy bill achieved their first victory in the special session today when the house rules committee voted six to three to report a rule providing for immediate consideration of the measure in the house.

The committee divided on partisan lines. Representatives Campbell of Kansas, Rodenberg of Illinois, Pees of Ohio, Snell of New York, Dale of Vermont and Johnson of South Dakota all republicans, voting to report the measure while Representatives Garrett of Tennessee, Pou of North Carolina and Cantrill of Kentucky opposed it.

CASE OVER CONTRACTS WON BY RAIL SHOPMEN

Chicago, Nov. 22.—By finding for the shopmen and against the carriers in their case against the Western Maryland Railroad company where the question of contracting out shop work is involved, the United States railroad labor board for the first time has deviated from its policy that employees, by striking, take themselves from the jurisdiction of the transporting act.

In the decision issued yesterday the board construed the contracting out shop work as an attempt to remove the employees from the application of the act and directed the carrier to take up the matter of the reinstatement with the employees.

NORTHERN PACIFIC IS TO OPPOSE G. N. ON BURLINGTON MERGER

DONNELLY TO PRESENT ROAD'S STAND AT LATER HEARING, PROBABLY IN MINNEAPOLIS

MILWAUKEE PRESIDENT ADVOCATES COMBINING HIS SYSTEM WITH UNION PACIFIC

Washington Nov. 22.—Charles Donnelly, general counsel for the Northern Pacific railroad, announced that his road would answer the plea of the Great Northern railroad that it should not be divorced from the Burlington railroad if the interstate commerce commission rejected the request of the Hills lines that the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington be included in one system.

May Hold Twin City Hearing
Hearing on the request of the Hill lines for consolidation of the three Hill roads was concluded in Washington. Further hearing will be conducted in Washington or in the west, probably in the twin cities.

Mr. Donnelly declared the Northern Pacific would defend the tentative plan for its consolidation with the Burlington and would oppose being linked with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road as proposed in Professor W. Z. Ripley's draft, which is declared to be favored by the interstate commerce commission.

G. N. Shift Causes Surprise

The Northern Pacific having come here with the Great Northern and Burlington to oppose the commission's tentative plan and urge its consolidation with the other two lines, was unprepared for the Great Northern's shift in tactics. All it could do was to sit by and allow the Great Northern to present its facts and arguments for linking the Great Northern and Burlington and then ask Commissioner Hall to give it time to make its case against the Great Northern.

Louis W. Hill, chairman of the board, and Ralph Budd, president, were heard in behalf of the Great Northern and President H. E. Byram spoke for the Milwaukee road. Mr. Budd completed his testimony begun Saturday to show why the Great Northern rather than the Northern Pacific should be grouped with the Burlington. Mr. Hill was called to the stand by Walker D. Hines, general counsel, to show that James J. Hill worked for and looked on the Great Northern-Burlington combination as one for mutual benefit.

Hill Backs G. N.-C. B. & Q. Merger

Mr. Hill was put on the stand by Mr. Hines to strengthen his contention that the Great Northern and Burlington have been built up to be co-operated.

Mr. Hill told the commission his father had aided the Burlington to get into St. Paul.

Mr. Hill told the commission that when the Northern Pacific and Great Northern set out to buy one of the roads to the south in 1901, his father considered the Burlington the logical one to purchase. The Burlington, James J. Hill believed, would furnish the interchange desired by the Great Northern.

Northern Pacific interests, Mr. Hill said, suggested the Milwaukee road would be a better road to buy. In the end, however, James J. Hill convinced his associates in favor of the Burlington. Mr. Hill said his father, in buying the Burlington, had no fear of its invasion of Great Northern territory, but regarded the two roads as natural supplements and feeders.

Tokio, Nov. 22.—The touring American baseball team, consisting of stars from the major leagues, suffered its first defeat in Japan when the Mita club, made up of graduates of Keio university, won 9 to 3. The Japanese made eleven hits and three errors. The Americans were held to five hits and made four errors. Japanese writers say the Americans allowed Mita to win.

Advises Speeding Highway Program
St. Paul, Nov. 22.—"Minnesota must speed its highway program now that other states are fighting for good roads leadership and federal benefits," Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, said today, outlining proposals he will make to the state legislature in January.

Passage of enabling acts for trunk highway reimbursement bond issues by all counties which did not act under the 1919 law and for $10,000,000 for trunk highway bonds in 1923 and 1924 is proposed. Revision of motor vehicle tax schedules to correct inequalities without sacrificing returns consideration of increase in taxes on trucks and busses for hire, and minor changes in highway laws also will be asked.

The new highway plan has cut local road taxes more than $1,200,000 and further reductions will follow, according to Babcock. Counties have been relieved of the burden of work on main roads, he pointed out.

Commissioner Babcock declared good roads have resulted in savings to motorists in gasoline, tires, repairs and depreciation that will far exceed the motor vehicle tax each year.

Those eligible to membership in a territorial educators' association will sit on the platform at the afternoon session today in the Central high school and after anecdotes have been related the group will be photographed.

Many prominent speakers are on the program.

BRAINERD PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Jeanie Grewcox Succumbed to a Long Illness. Patient and Uncomplaining to End

SAW TOWN GROW FROM VILLAGE

Funeral Services Thursday Afternoon From First Congregational Church at 3 O'Clock

Mrs. Jeanie Grewcox, pioneer resident of Brainerd, passed away at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon following a long illness.

Jeanie Stewart was born in Glasgow, Scotland, November 4th, 1845 and in childhood moved with her parents to Canada and later to Jackson, Michigan. Here in 1845 she was married to Charles H. Grewcox, to which union were born three children, George W., of Minneapolis, former city clerk of Brainerd, Miss Mabelle of the Minnesota & International Railway offices and a child who died in infancy.

The Grewcox family moved to Brainerd in September 1878 and have since made this their home. Many changes and improvements have occurred in the city in these forty-four years, and it was Mrs. Grewcox's privilege to watch its growth from a small village hidden away in the pines to a thriving city of ten thousand people.

Her husband preceded her in death twenty-seven years ago, and she has since made her home with her children.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon in the First Congregational church at 3 o'clock, Rev. George J. Walenta of the Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a member, presiding. The remains will be taken to Valley City Thursday and burial will be made there beside the body of her husband.

The Dispatch joins the many friends of the Grewcox family in offering sincere sympathy to the bereaved.

RED CROSS AIDS CHRISTIANS IN EAST

Washington, Nov. 22—Upon the quick charity of America largely depends the fate of a million Christians driven from Asia Minor by Turkish military success, it is declared at national Headquarters of the American Red Cross.

Greece either will be a sepulchre or a place of rebirth for these stricken people, whose desperate plight is further depicted in a cablegram received by the Red Cross from Vice Chairman A. Ross Hill who is directing relief work from Athens.

King George, of Greece, through Dr. Hill, sent thanks to the Red Cross for its aid and expressed the appreciation of his nation to the American people. The Red Cross is rapidly perfecting its organization in Greece, said Dr. Hill's message, which went on to state:

"Hundreds of thousands of refugees are filling the Greek cities and islands. These consists largely of mothers with children who, with old people, are sole remnants of once flourishing populations driven into sea by the Turks. Miserable women, hungry, despairing, shelterless, walk the streets with babies clinging to their skirts. Children, and old people lie in barracks day and night, with sores on their bodies and faces, their future black."

"King George thanks the American Red Cross for its help and extends the appreciation of his nation to the American people."

"Smallpox is spreading from one concentration camp to another. Meanwhile Greece is awaiting new floods of refugees. The race is on between American Red Cross supplies and those fresh shiploads of people. The Greek government has telegraphed its representatives in all countries asking the utmost help from every nation immediately."

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

IN his message given out from the White House, in which President Harding sets aside the week of December 3 to 9 as American Education week, the president calls attention to the need of promoting interest in education.

The fathers of this nation saw the importance of education and if their descendants fail to sense its value American institutions are endangered. In expressing this thought the president says: "The strength and security of the nation will always rest in the intelligent body of its people."

"Ever since the war-time examinations of American manhood disclosed such vast numbers who could not read or write, the thoughtful people of the United States have been alert to the need of a more thorough and more widely diffused educational program. The presence of this great mass of unlettered people within our borders has led to a strong emphasis on National Education week and this year a real effort is being made to focus interest on the educational needs of the various states in the union and the communities in those states.

The purpose is a good one and the plan is clearly defined. By calling upon all the states, all the communities in those states, all the civic organizations in those communities to concentrate on this subject for one week, there will be brought into existence a national interest in education which will accomplish much more than the interest of leaders in this field could ever accomplish without the arousing of the national consciousness.

If conditions are to be improved the improvement will come through crystallizing sentiment upon that which needs improvement. Slavery was not ended by influencing individual slave owners to give up the practice but by so organizing sentiment that slavery became outlawed. What is true of slavery is also true of the liquor evil. After years of effort to lead drinkers to give up the use of liquor it became obvious that this would not prevent the use of liquor, because in many cases the influence upon the drinker, of those who wished to help him, was overcome by the temptation that presented itself at every corner.

Just this is true of the struggle against ignorance. The battle will not be won by approaching individuals, and inviting their interest, but by a mass movement whose weight will brush aside obstacles. A satisfactory educational program will be obtained when the people demand it. This is also true of equipment and legislation. A strong public opinion will be the determining factor.

By concentrating attention on winning the war marvelous results were achieved. People were taught to give—to give until it hurt. The end was always kept before the people, and organized sentiment secured results, until it was over, over there. The setting aside of the week of December 3 to 9 for the purpose of pursuing the war against ignorance, by focusing attention on education, will lead to splendid achievements in this field.

CODDLING THE CRIMINAL

THE conviction of a woman accused of murder by juries in American courts is the exception rather than the rule. If the accused is possessed of feminine charm and holds a child in her arms, jurors seem to be forgetful of their duty to the state which demands that they bring in a verdict based on the evidence submitted in the case. While it is true that in such a case they are to be convinced beyond doubt that the accused is guilty, it is also true that when once they have been convinced of the guilt of the accused, by the evidence submitted, they are untrue to their oath if they allow any outside influences to interfere with their verdict.

Recently a young woman appeared in a court in New Jersey accused of murdering her husband and another woman with whom he was believed to have been on too intimate terms. The accused was pretty, she had a child in her arms, while her aged mother was present to help in creating favorable sentiment. Although there was no shadow of doubt of the accused's guilt the jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty." This verdict was contrary to the evidence in the case and was the result of sentimentality. It was in keeping with the prevalent tendency to coddle criminals.

Such a reign of shallow emotionalism must be checked. Law is still law. "Thou shalt not kill" is a law both morally and constitutionally valid. The penalty for the breaking of this law is fixed and should be imposed. Present tendencies suggest that in states where electrocution is the penalty for murder, someone is likely to propose at an early date that criminals sentenced to this fate be wrapped in asbestos lest the current touch them.

Nature imposes penalties for the violation of her laws and in exacting her penalties nature is no respecter of persons; both male and female, rich and poor are required to pay the price of their wrong-doing. Society equally is under an obligation to impartially in imposing penalties for the breaking of those laws that are the guarantee of an orderly society.

Lawlessness is rampant and lawlessness will not be checked so long as juries allow emotion to control reason. Such verdicts are not just; their authors are themselves law breakers, and the result must be a penalty exacted of the social order. This penalty is being exacted in social disorders, riots, murders and other horrible crimes. The golden rule cannot be practiced except in a society qualified to appreciate the golden rule. Laws carry penalties for their violation and to ignore the penalty is to break the law of which it is part. Coddling criminals must stop. The exacting of the penalty often saves the man. An undiscovered and unpunished crime often leads to other and worse acts of violence. To be discovered and punished is often a cure. Prisoners should be treated humanely, but it is not for any twelve men to decide that the guilty are to be released from paying the penalty for their wrong doing.

LAUSANNE

THE eyes of the world are directed towards Lausanne where the allies meet the Turks in conference. In this conference a treaty must be formulated looking to the prevention of future strife between Greek and Turk, and another treaty must be drawn up to take the place of the treaty of Sevres scrapped as a result of the success of the Turkish forces against the Greek army. These appear as the important matters to be disposed of by the conference, but other more weighty questions agitate the minds of the conferees. Britain is threatened by an uprising of the Moslems and anything her representatives do will be in the nature of conciliating these peoples. The conference reports are to be censored, which represents a reversion to secret diplomacy, and perhaps this is well, because the delicacy of the questions to be discussed, carrying as they do a threat of international strife, by their very complexity will result in discussions that could not be clearly followed by others than those who have full information of the subjects under discussion. Processes are not always nice to watch, and after all the result is what really matters.

LA FOLLETTE demands good wages for sailors and opposes a subsidy for ship owners; others demand government ownership of the railroads and oppose a merger of railroads; yet others want the government to control the railroads but are opposed to the Esch-Cummins bill which gives the government a large measure of control. And so it seems certain that all will not get what they want.

THE M's will decide on Saturday which is to be written with a capital, Minnesota or Michigan. Even though they both use the capital, one will be a big M and the other a small m on Saturday night.

At this time of the year turkey is popular in America, but in Europe Turkey is not relished.

THE British have quit letting George do it and have asked Bonar to lay down the Law.

SALT WILL KILL

BARBERRY BUSHES

Second Stem Rust Conference Reveals Progress Made in Eradicating Pest

Salt has been proved an effective agent for killing the common bush, necessary to complete the life cycle for seeds that cause black stem rust. This fact, established by government scientists, was revealed to delegates attending the second convention of the Conference for the Prevention of Grain Rust at University Farm, St. Paul last week by Dr. Noel F. Thompson, pathologist with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Thompson said that common salt, in the form used in the manufacture of ice cream, when placed about the base of a barberry bush, had been found to kill even the small roots in a short period and that the danger of sprouts, chief objection to the grubbing method of eradication, was eliminated. He also said that sodium arsenite had proved effective, but recommended the use of salt because it was easier and more cheaply obtained. About five pounds are required for an average bush. Salt should not be applied to lawns, etc., as there is danger of soil sterilization for a time.

The conference was attended by 150 notable leaders in the agricultural field from thirteen states in which grain is grown. Resolutions unanimously adopted urged continuation of the campaign and asked congress and state legislatures to aid the movement with appropriations.

A first showing of a new motion picture, prepared by the conference, gave reproductions of actual microscopic views proving conclusively that the common barberry bush is absolutely necessary to enable the rust seeds to live through the winter.

Lame every morning, achy and stiff all day, worse when it's damp or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. J. R. Mutch, 618 5th St. So., Brainerd, says: "I just ached all over. There was hardly a spot in my body that wasn't sore. When I stooped, I got severe pains in my kidneys. I couldn't stand very long as I became so tired and worn out. I had a steady, dull bearing down feeling in my kidneys and felt as though I had weights tied about them. I got little rest and mornings my back was so sore and stiff it seemed it would break if I stooped. Between all these ailments I became completely run down. A friend suggested Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought some at Dunn's Drug Store. Doan's gave me wonderful relief and I am glad to recommend them."

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

In his message given out from the White House, in which President Harding sets aside the week of December 3 to 9 as American Education week, the president calls attention to the need of promoting interest in education.

The fathers of this nation saw the importance of education and if their descendants fail to sense its value American institutions are endangered. In expressing this thought the president says: "The strength and security of the nation will always rest in the intelligent body of its people."

"Ever since the war-time examinations of American manhood disclosed such vast numbers who could not read or write, the thoughtful people of the United States have been alert to the need of a more thorough and more widely diffused educational program. The presence of this great mass of unlettered people within our borders has led to a strong emphasis on National Education week and this year a real effort is being made to focus interest on the educational needs of the various states in the union and the communities in those states.

The purpose is a good one and the plan is clearly defined. By calling upon all the states, all the communities in those states, all the civic organizations in those communities to concentrate on this subject for one week, there will be brought into existence a national interest in education which will accomplish much more than the interest of leaders in this field could ever accomplish without the arousing of the national consciousness.

If conditions are to be improved the improvement will come through crystallizing sentiment upon that which needs improvement. Slavery was not ended by influencing individual slave owners to give up the practice but by so organizing sentiment that slavery became outlawed. What is true of slavery is also true of the liquor evil. After years of effort to lead drinkers to give up the use of liquor it became obvious that this would not prevent the use of liquor, because in many cases the influence upon the drinker, of those who wished to help him, was overcome by the temptation that presented itself at every corner.

Just this is true of the struggle against ignorance. The battle will not be won by approaching individuals, and inviting their interest, but by a mass movement whose weight will brush aside obstacles. A satisfactory educational program will be obtained when the people demand it. This is also true of equipment and legislation. A strong public opinion will be the determining factor.

By concentrating attention on winning the war marvelous results were achieved. People were taught to give—to give until it hurt. The end was always kept before the people, and organized sentiment secured results, until it was over, over there. The setting aside of the week of December 3 to 9 for the purpose of pursuing the war against ignorance, by focusing attention on education, will lead to splendid achievements in this field.

CODDLING THE CRIMINAL

THE conviction of a woman accused of murder by juries in American courts is the exception rather than the rule. If the accused is possessed of feminine charm and holds a child in her arms, jurors seem to be forgetful of their duty to the state which demands that they bring in a verdict based on the evidence submitted in the case. While it is true that in such a case they are to be convinced beyond doubt that the accused is guilty, it is also true that when once they have been convinced of the guilt of the accused, by the evidence submitted, they are untrue to their oath if they allow any outside influences to interfere with their verdict.

Recently a young woman appeared in a court in New Jersey accused of murdering her husband and another woman with whom he was believed to have been on too intimate terms. The accused was pretty, she had a child in her arms, while her aged mother was present to help in creating favorable sentiment. Although there was no shadow of doubt of the accused's guilt the jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty." This verdict was contrary to the evidence in the case and was the result of sentimentality. It was in keeping with the prevalent tendency to coddle criminals.

Such a reign of shallow emotionalism must be checked. Law is still law. "Thou shalt not kill" is a law both morally and constitutionally valid. The penalty for the breaking of this law is fixed and should be imposed. Present tendencies suggest that in states where electrocution is the penalty for murder, someone is likely to propose at an early date that criminals sentenced to this fate be wrapped in asbestos lest the current touch them.

Nature imposes penalties for the violation of her laws and in exacting her penalties nature is no respecter of persons; both male and female, rich and poor are required to pay the price of their wrong-doing. Society equally is under an obligation to impartiality in imposing penalties for the breaking of those laws that are the guarantee of an orderly society.

Lawlessness is rampant and lawlessness will not be checked so long as juries allow emotion to control reason. Such verdicts are not just; their authors are themselves law breakers, and the result must be a penalty exacted of the social order. This penalty is being exacted in social disorders, riots, murders and other horrible crimes. The golden rule cannot be practiced except in a society qualified to appreciate the golden rule. Laws carry penalties for their violation and to ignore the penalty is to break the law of which it is part. Coddling criminals must stop. The exaction of the penalty often saves the man. An undiscovered and unpunished crime often leads to other and worse acts of violence. To be discovered and punished is often a cure. Prisoners should be treated humanely, but it is not for any twelve men to decide that the guilty are to be released from paying the penalty for their wrong doing.

LAUSANNE

THE eyes of the world are directed towards Lausanne where the allies meet the Turks in conference. In this conference a treaty must be formulated looking to the prevention of future strife between Greek and Turk, and another treaty must be drawn up to take the place of the treaty of Sevres scrapped as a result of the success of the Turkish forces against the Greek army. These appear as the important matters to be disposed of by the conference, but other more weighty questions agitate the minds of the conferees. Britain is threatened by an uprising of the Moslems and anything her representatives do will be in the nature of conciliating these peoples. The conference reports are to be censored, which represents a reversion to secret diplomacy, and perhaps this is well, because the delicacy of the questions to be discussed, carrying as they do a threat of international strife, by their very complexity will result in discussions that could not be clearly followed by others than those who have full information of the subjects under discussion. Processes are not always nice to watch, and after all the result is what really matters.

LA FOLLETTE demands good wages for sailors and opposes a subsidy for ship owners; others demand government ownership of the railroads and oppose a merger of railroads; yet others want the government to control the railroads but are opposed to the Esch-Cummins bill which gives the government a large measure of control. And so it seems certain that all will not get what they want.

THE M's will decide on Saturday which is to be written with a capital, Minnesota or Michigan. Even though they both use the capital, one will be a big M and the other a small m on Saturday night.

AT this time of the year turkey is popular in America, but in Europe Turkey is not relished.

THE British have quit letting George do it and have asked Bonar to lay down the Law.

SALT WILL KILL

BARBERRY BUSHES

Second Stem Rust Conference Reveals Progress Made in Eradicating Pest

Salt has been proved an effective agent for killing the common bush, necessary to complete the life cycle for seeds that cause black stem rust. This fact, established by government scientists, was revealed to delegates attending the second convention of the Conference for the Prevention of Grain Rust at University Farm, St. Paul last week by Dr. Noel F. Thompson, pathologist with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Thompson said that common salt, in the form used in the manufacture of ice cream, when placed about the base of a barberry bush, had been found to kill even the small roots in a short period and that the danger of sprouts, chief objection to the grubbing method of eradication, was eliminated. He also said that sodium arsenite had proved effective, but recommended the use of salt because it was easier and more cheaply obtained. About five pounds are required for an average bush. Salt should not be applied to lawns, etc., as there is danger of soil sterilization for a time.

The conference was attended by 150 notable leaders in the agricultural field from thirteen states in which grain is grown. Resolutions unanimously adopted urged continuation of the campaign and asked congress and state legislatures to aid the movement with appropriations.

A first showing of a new motion picture, prepared by the conference, gave reproductions of actual microscopic views proving conclusively that the common barberry bush is absolutely necessary to enable the rust seeds to live through the winter.

Replacement Men at N. P. Shops
Have Card Game Interrupted

BANDITS HAD FACES COVERED
Flashed Guns on the Crowd, Got Their Booty, and Escaped in
Mysterious Manner

Two men with handkerchiefs covering their faces, held up a group of replacement men at their headquarters in the shop yard and got away with about $260.

It is stated that a poker game was in session in one of the bunk houses about nine o'clock Tuesday evening, when the two bandits entered with pointed revolvers and ordered all hands up.

One of the men present thought the robbers were in fun and threw a pillow at them, but his misconception was quickly relieved by threats from the holdup men. One of the two kept his gun on the crowd while the other raked in the money and made his get-a-way.

How they managed to escape seems to be somewhat of a mystery, as they were not seen by any of the guards around the fence. Guns were fired immediately following the escape to give notice of the robbery, but the bandits had too much of a start and could not be caught.

All trains were watched and a number of suspects picked up, but the right men have not yet been located. A number of the victims state that they recognized the faces behind the handkerchiefs as men who had been working in the shops only a few days, and it is thought that they came to this work just for a short time, to get the "lay of the land" in order that their contemplated hold-up would be assured of success. How well they must have laid their plans is evidenced by the fact that everything went through without a hitch.

NOTICE

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 18, 1922
To the Public:

At this time of the year it becomes obligatory for the Water and Light Board to make a special effort to collect from its delinquents. We offer herewith an explanation so all people will understand what is being done and why.

The printed rules of the Board state that after a customer is delinquent thirty days in the payment of a bill, the Board has the option to discontinue the service, however, at this time of the year this rule became secondary to the charter.

The charter says that the Secretary shall place all delinquencies on the tax bill; that is, by November the first of each year the Secretary shall give the County Auditor a list of names and description of property and amounts due the Board, and the Auditor enters this amount as a tax against the property involved. If the Auditor has enough time he can accommodate the Secretary of the Board by giving the latter more time after November the first. This year it is hoped to be able to obtain an extension until December first.

Where the customer is a tenant, the property owner has the right of protection against a lien and may request the Board to discontinue the service to the tenant until the bills have been paid to the Board. If the owner is disinterested in the matter, the Board must and will follow the provisions of the Charter and file the delinquencies with the Auditor.

It should be clear to everyone that none of those matters, at this time, are arbitrary decisions or rulings by the Board, but are what the City Charter specifies and creates. This means an unusual amount of work for the Secretary and a great deal of annoyance to the members of the department, which work would be cheerfully dispensed with if within the power of the Board to do so. Many people have become indignant and show resentment because of the notices sent by the Board, but the Board is bound by the Charter to carry out this procedure and the Secretary is personally liable if this provision of the Charter is not carried out. Collections have not been pressed for a long time, but, under the Charter, there remains no choice at this time of the year, and it becomes a question of protecting property and not one of showing partiality.

STIMACH IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

In Their Verdict, Brought Tuesday
Afternoon, They Recommended
Mercy be Shown

SPECIAL VENIRE IS ORDERED
Next Case Was That of Mike Brletic,
Charged With Robbery in the
First Degree

The jury in the case of the state against Frank Stimach, charged with burglary in the third degree in breaking into a refrigerator car on the Northern Pacific tracks at Ironton, returned their verdict at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in which they found the defendant guilty. In their verdict, they recommended mercy. G. A. Knapp was foreman of this jury.

The court ordered that a special venire of ten qualified petit jurors be issued, returnable Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. This order was placed in the hands of the sheriff for execution.

The case of the state against Mike Brletic was expected to be in the hands of the jury by noon Wednesday. Brletic now states that his right name is Frank Barchie, and that his home is in McKeesport, Pennsylvania. He states that he came to this country from Austria at six years of age.

Barchie is indicted on a charge of robbery in the first degree, for breaking into the house of Frank Kroll of Cuyuna on September 6th. Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Kroll took the stand and testified as to the facts in the robbery. It was brought out that two men came to Kroll's house, representing themselves as Indian Agents searching for liquor. In their search, Kroll states that they found a quantity of money and appropriated it.

Mrs. Kroll was called Tuesday afternoon and again Wednesday morning, and testified through an interpreter. She stated that she was outside the house when the two men arrived. They showed her their stars and took her by the arm leading her into the kitchen, where they again displayed the stars. Her husband, who was in the bedroom was called and both Mr. and Mrs. Kroll were seated in the dining room under the guard of one of the men, that Mrs. Kroll identified as Barchie, while his accomplice made a search of the other rooms.

She testified that in this search one of the "Indian Agents" in going through a trunk in the bedroom, took $400 in bills that were tied up in a handkerchief, and a ten dollar gold piece that was in the bottom of the trunk. In leaving, she stated that Barchie left a light overcoat on the kitchen table, which the state offered as an exhibit.

It was brought out in the examination of Sheriff Claus Theorin who was the only witness for the defense, and by Barchie himself who took the stand, that the defendant served time in the Pennsylvania penitentiary for several years on conviction of burglary, being sentenced in 1919 and on September 1st, 1921 was paroled.

In August of this year, Barchie broke this parole by leaving the state without permission, and failing to report to the authorities each month.

Barchie states that he gave the name of Mike Brletic and his address as Chicago, because he did not want local authorities to discover the fact that he was a paroled convict and had broken his pledge.

Mr. Theorin stated that he has a letter from officials of the Pennsylvania penitentiary, asking that Barchie be sent back if not convicted in this court.

The jury in this case is composed of Harry Andrews, Fred Davis, W. H. McIntyre, F. G. Hall, Charles Mitchell, L. A. Rifenrath, Fred Flansberg, Frank H. Benjamin, Joe Edwards, John Davis, Charles Harris and C. G. Watts.

George Shanks Case

The case of the state against George Shanks came up for trial following the disposal of the Barchie case. Shanks was indicted by the grand jury charged with assault in the second degree in inflicting injuries on the person of Erick Kronberg July 31st. Shanks had entered a plea of not guilty to this charge.

In court the defendant asked to withdraw this plea of not guilty of assault in the second degree, and to enter a plea of guilty of assault in the third degree. The court accepted this change and sentenced Shanks, imposing a fine of $100 or in default, to spend 90 days in the county jail.

WEEK FOR STUDY OF EDUCATION

First Meeting of Joint Committee in Charge of Program at Chamber of Commerce Friday

DR. BROWN MAY SPEAK HERE
Head of St. Cloud State Teachers College is President of Minnesota
Educational Association

The first meeting of the joint committee, which has in charge the program for National Education week as it affects Brainerd, will be held at 8:30 o'clock on Friday evening in the office of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

In making this week what it ought to be the National Educational association and the American Legion are inviting all organizations of a civic, religious or educational character to cooperate. Representatives from all such organizations will be cordially received at the meeting on Friday evening.

The purpose of setting aside a week for the study of educational needs will be made clear through the newspapers, churches, schools, theaters and other vehicles of publicity. Statistics show that America must awake to the fact that not sufficient attention is given to educating the people who, after all, are the determining factor, in what America is today or will be tomorrow. Just how alarming the situation is will be made evident by the publicity campaign which will be pushed across during the time between this date and December 3rd which marks the beginning of National Education week, and by every available means during the week December 3 to 9.

The local committee has secured a tentative acceptance from Dr. Brown, President of the St. Cloud Normal school, who is the president of the Minnesota Educational association to speak in this city on the evening of December 8th. An announcement of the mass meeting to be held during that week will be made after the committee meeting on Friday evening of this week. Announcement will also be made of the various committees appointed to take charge of different phases of the work of National Education week.

This campaign calls for no subscriptions but it calls for something that is probably harder to get than money and that is constructive thinking on the part of all the people on a subject that demands real honest-to-goodness thought.

Key general of Minnesota to assist County Attorney Alderman in the prosecution of the Shanks case. F. E. Ebner defended Shanks and would have been assisted by Tom Sullivan of St. Paul if the trial had continued under the original indictment.

No cases being ready for trial, the court was adjourned from 2 o'clock Wednesday until Thursday morning, at which time it is expected to take up the trial of the state against Ernest Price, charged with assault in the second degree.

A special venire of the following jurors was made on Wednesday: F. J. Wenquist, Deerwood; Charles Olson, Deerwood; L. R. Cook, Ft. Ripley; John Schamp, Ft. Ripley; W. H. Andrews, Emily; F. W. Markwart, Deerwood; Albert Krueger and Milton Gorton both of R. R. No. 1, Brainerd.

The Ladies Aid of the Bethlehem Lutheran church will meet tomorrow afternoon, Thursday, in the church parlors, entertained by Mrs. Hannah Johnson. We hope all our folks will be there. Friends always welcome.

NORTHEAST WET WASH LAUNDRY

New Industry Started in Brainerd
by J. C. Weber, Formerly of
Pillager

AN INNOVATION IN THE CITY
Clothes Are Washed Only and Returned to Patrons in Semi-dry Shape Ready to be Ironed

Another new industry for Brainerd is the Northeast Wet Wash Laundry, which opened for business Monday. J. C. Weber is the proprietor who has exhibited his faith in the city since moving here about a month ago from Pillager.

The wet wash system of laundering is an innovation in Brainerd, although it has long been a proven success in other localities. By this method clothes are washed only, and returned to the customer in a semi-dry condition practically ready to be ironed. They are not, however, starched, this being left to the individual taste of the customer.

The process of washing is interesting. The clothes are put in a large washer similar to the electric washers used in the home. When they have been thoroughly cleaned they are placed in a second machine called an "Extractor" which contains a bowl that through its whirling motion drives the water out of the clothes, leaving them much drier than a wringer would.

Mr. Weber calls for and delivers laundry to any part of the city. His establishment is located at 304 4th avenue Northeast. It is believed that a wet wash laundry supplies a long felt want in Brainerd, and no doubt will receive good patronage.

Mysterious Manner

Two men with handkerchiefs covering their faces, held up a group of replacement men at their headquarters in the shop yard and got away with about $260.

It is stated that a poker game was in session in one of the bunk houses about nine o'clock Tuesday evening, when the two bandits entered with pointed revolvers and ordered all hands up.

One of the men present thought the robbers were in fun and threw a pillow at them, but his misconception was quickly relieved by threats from the holdup men. One of the two kept his gun on the crowd while the other raked in the money and made his get-away.

How they managed to escape seems to be somewhat of a mystery, as they were not seen by any of the guards around the fence. Guns were fired immediately following the escape to give notice of the robbery, but the bandits had too much of a start and could not be caught.

All trains were watched and a number of suspects picked up, but the right men have not yet been located. A number of the victims state that they recognized the faces behind the handkerchiefs as men who had been working in the shops only a few days, and it is thought that they came to this work just for a short time, to get the "lay of the land" in order that their contemplated hold-up would be assured of success. How well they must have laid their plans is evidenced by the fact that everything went through without a hitch.

NOTICE

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 18, 1922
To the Public:

At this time of the year it becomes obligatory for the Water and Light Board to make a special effort to collect from its delinquents. We offer herewith an explanation so all people will understand what is being done and why.

The printed rules of the Board state that after a customer is delinquent thirty days in the payment of a bill, the Board has the option to discontinue the service, however, at this time of the year this rule became secondary to the charter.

The charter says that the Secretary shall place all delinquencies on the tax bill; that is, by November the first of each year the Secretary shall give the County Auditor a list of names and description of property and amounts due the Board, and the Auditor enters this amount as a tax against the property involved. If the Auditor has enough time he can accommodate the Secretary of the Board by giving the latter more time after November the first. This year it is hoped to be able to obtain an extension until December first.

Where the customer is a tenant, the property owner has the right of protection against a lien and may request the Board to discontinue the service to the tenant until the bills have been paid to the Board. If the owner is personally liable if this provision of the Charter is not carried out. Collections have not been pressed for a long time, but, under the Charter, there remains no choice at this time of the year, and it becomes a question of protecting property and not one of showing partiality.

STIMACH IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

In Their Verdict, Brought Tuesday
Afternoon, They Recommended
Mercy be Shown

SPECIAL VENIRE IS ORDERED

Next Case Was That of Mike Brletic,
Charged With Robbery in the
First Degree

The jury in the case of the state against Frank Stimach, charged with burglary in the third degree in breaking into a refrigerator car on the Northern Pacific tracks at Ironton returned their verdict at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in which they found the defendant guilty. In their verdict, they recommended mercy. G. A. Knapp was foreman of this jury.

The court ordered that a special venire of ten qualified petit jurors be issued, returnable Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. This order was placed in the hands of the sheriff for execution.

The case of the state against Mike Brletic was expected to be in the hands of the jury by noon Wednesday. Brletic now states that his right name is Frank Barchie, and that his home is in McKeesport, Pennsylvania. He states that he came to this country from Austria at six years of age.

Barchie is indicted on a charge of robbery in the first degree, for breaking into the house of Frank Kroll of Cuyuna on September 6th, Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Kroll took the stand and testified as to the facts in the robbery. It was brought out that two men came to Kroll's house, representing themselves as Indian Agents searching for liquor. In their search, Kroll states that they found a quantity of money and appropriated it.

Mrs. Kroll was called Tuesday afternoon and again Wednesday morning, and testified through an interpreter. She stated that she was outside the house when the two men arrived. They showed her their stars and took her by the arm leading her into the kitchen, where they again displayed the stars. Her husband who was in the bedroom was called and both Mr. and Mrs. Kroll were seated in the dining room under the guard of one of the men, that Mrs. Kroll identified as Barchie, while his accomplice made a search of the other rooms.

She testified that in this search one of the "Indian Agents" in going through a trunk in the bedroom, took $400 in bills that were tied up in a handkerchief, and a ten dollar gold piece that was in the bottom of the trunk. In leaving, she stated that Barchie left a light overcoat on the kitchen table, which the state offered as an exhibit.

It was brought out in the examination of Sheriff Claus Theorin who was the only witness for the defense, and by Barchie himself who took the stand, that the defendant served time in the Pennsylvania penitentiary for several years on conviction of burglary, being sentenced in 1919 and on September 1st, 1921 was paroled.

In August of this year, Barchie broke this parole by leaving the state without permission, and failing to report to the authorities each month.

Barchie states that he gave the name of Mike Brletic and his address as Chicago, because he did not want local authorities to discover the fact that he was a paroled convict and had broken his pledge.

Mr. Theorin stated that he has a letter from officials of the Pennsylvania penitentiary, asking that Barchie be sent back if not convicted in this court.

The jury in this case is composed of Harry Andrews, Fred Davis, V. J. McIntyre, F. G. Hall, Charles Mitchell, L. A. Rifenrath, Fred Flansberg, Frank H. Benjamin, Joe Edwards, John Davis, Charles Harris and C. G. Watts.

George Shanks Case

The case of the state against George Shanks came up for trial following the disposal of the Barchie case. Shanks was indicted by the grand jury charged with assault in the second degree in inflicting injuries on the person of Erick Kronberg July 31st. Shanks had entered a plea of not guilty to this charge.

In court the defendant asked to withdraw this plea of not guilty of assault in the second degree, and to enter a plea of guilty of assault in the third degree. The court accepted this change and sentenced Shanks, imposing a fine of $100 or in default, to spend 90 days in the county jail.

WEEK FOR STUDY OF EDUCATION

First Meeting of Joint Committee in Charge of Program at Chamber of Commerce Friday

DR. BROWN MAY SPEAK HERE

Head of St. Cloud State Teachers College is President of Minnesota
Educational Association

The first meeting of the joint committee, which has in charge the program for National Education week as it affects Brainerd, will be held at 8:30 o'clock on Friday evening in the office of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

In making this week what it ought to be the National Educational association and the American Legion are inviting all organizations of a civic, religious or educational character to cooperate. Representatives from all such organizations will be cordially received at the meeting on Friday evening.

The purpose of setting aside a week for the study of educational needs will be made clear through the newspapers, churches, schools, theatres and other vehicles of publicity. Statistics show that America must awake to the fact that not sufficient attention is given to educating the people who, after all, are the determining factor, in what America is today or will be tomorrow. Just how alarming the situation is will be made evident by the publicity campaign which will be pushed across during the time between this date and December 3rd which marks the beginning of National Education week, and by every available means during the week December 3 to 9.

The local committee has secured a tentative acceptance from Dr. Brown, President of the St. Cloud Normal school, who is the president of the Minnesota Educational association to speak in this city on the evening of December 8th. An announcement of the mass meeting to be held during that week will be made after the committee meeting on Friday evening of this week. Announcement will also be made of the various committees appointed to take charge of different phases of the work of National Education week.

This campaign calls for no subscriptions but it calls for something that is probably harder to get than money and that is constructive thinking on the part of all the people on a subject that demands real honest-to-goodness thought.

ney general of Minnesota to assist County Attorney Alderman in the prosecution of the Shanks case. F. E. Ebner defended Shanks and would have been assisted by Tom Sullivan of St. Paul if the trial had continued under the original indictment.

No cases being ready for trial, the court was adjourned from 2 o'clock Wednesday until Thursday morning, at which time it is expected to take up the trial of the state against Ernest Price, charged with assault in the second degree.

A special venire of the following jurors was made on Wednesday: F. J. Wenquist, Deerwood; Charles Olson, Deerwood; L. R. Cook, Ft. Ripley; John Schamp, Ft. Ripley; W. H. Andrews, Emily; F. W. Markwart, Deerwood; Albert Krueger and Milton Gorton both of R. R. No. 1, Brainerd.

The Ladies Aid of the Bethlehem Lutheran church will meet tomorrow afternoon, Thursday, in the church parlors, entertained by Mrs. Hannah Johnson. We hope all our folks will be there. Friends always welcome.

NORTHEAST WET WASH LAUNDRY

New Industry Started in Brainerd
by J. C. Weber, Formerly of
Pillager

AN INNOVATION IN THE CITY

Clothes Are Washed Only and Returned to Patrons in Semi-dry Shape Ready to be Ironed

Another new industry for Brainerd is the Northeast Wet Wash Laundry, which opened for business Monday. J. C. Weber is the proprietor who has exhibited his faith in the city since moving here about a month ago from Pillager.

The wet wash system of laundering is an innovation in Brainerd, although it has long been a proven success in other localities. By this method clothes are washed only, and returned to the customer in a semi-dry condition practically ready to be ironed. They are not, however, starched, this being left to the individual taste of the customer.

The process of washing is interesting. The clothes are put in a large washer similar to the electric washers used in the home. When they have been thoroughly cleaned they are placed in a second machine called an "Extractor" which contains a bowl that through its whirling motion drives the water out of the clothes, leaving them much drier than a wringer would.

Mr. Weber calls for and delivers laundry to any part of the city. His establishment is located at 304 4th avenue Northeast. It is believed that a wet wash laundry supplies a long felt want in Brainerd, and no doubt will receive good patronage.

"FOLLOW THE BALL" WINS GAMES

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Nov. 22.—Much like the old logic that a calf will choke himself if you give him enough rope, new systems of sport strategy are being advanced and carried out that a wise warrior will let his opponent beat himself.

There is the example of the conservative game of tennis characteristic of the Japanese players. Their idea of strategy is largely the presentation of numerous opportunities for the opponent to make errors. They seldom assume the aggressive offense and generally they content themselves with a sure return over the net with chance that an overanxious opponent will "net" or "out."

While Princeton never can be accused of a "soft" style of play, or a lack of aggressiveness, yet "Bill" Roper has developed one of the most successful football systems in the country based largely on the theory that the opposition some time in every game will make a slip.

"During this game, the opposition is going to make a mistake or fall into error and YOU BE THERE when it happens," they seem to tell the Princeton players before every game. Invariably they are there when it happens and they make the utmost of it.

The eternal vigilance of Princeton gridiron stars in following the ball has developed into such uncanny perfection that nine times out of ten it is sure death for an opposing player to fumble the ball.

Sam White went onto the list of undying heroes in Nassau's hall of fame when he grabbed two fumbles several years ago and raced for touchdowns that beat Harvard and Yale. Gray, the great end of this year's team, turned defeat into victory by grabbing a fumble in the famous Chicago game and a few weeks later in the Harvard game, when the Crimson fumbled twice, two Tigers were on the ball and they won the game.

"Follow the ball" is the first precept of every football coach, but none seem to have so thoroughly driven home the lesson as Bill Roper.

It's a great motto for any game and any profession.

Princeton's defeat of Harvard was one of the greatest surprises of the season because the Crimson lost on fumbling errors—something that is a rarity for a Harvard player.

The Harvard eleven was almost out-thought, another strange miscarriage of a system that is generally regarded as the most efficient in football.

The injury to Charley Buell was also a big factor in the defeat. Harvard specializes in the development of great quarterbacks. This year, however, there was no one to take Buell's place and the team depended so much on his judgment and balance that when he was lost, it went to pieces.

Tad Jones, the Yale coach, no doubt will welcome Bob Fisher to the fraternity of great coaches who have lost great games.

It is not to be expected, however, that Fisher's scalp will be demanded by the Crimson alumni, while many of the Yale followers have been demanding the whole hide of Jones since he lost the Iowa game.

If Iowa wins the Western Conference championship again this year, it will mean much to the Jones family. Howard can boast of his second championship team and his brother Tad can get some satisfaction in the thought that "it took the best team in the west to beat me."

Spirit of Author's Story is Excellently Presented in "Straight is the Way"

In "Straight is the Way," the picture dramatization of "The Manifestation of Henry Ort," Ethel Watts Mumford's delightful outlandish board satire, which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre tonight and Thursday, Director Robert G. Vignola has caught the spirit injected into the story by the author and has produced a motion picture in keeping with his high reputation for screen plays.

Definite touches of brilliant satire, delightfully human characterizations, and droll situations are high lights in this production which from a scenic, histrionic, literary and directorial point of view reaches a remarkably high standard.

The exteriors for this picture were taken in a historic spot. Respecting the author's psychology, Director Vignola made his exteriors in the locale where the author originally set the story. This is the famous old Sands Point Homestead at Sands Point, Long Island, which was built in 1668, and which Mrs. Mumford uses as a summer residence. History mentions the fact that this home played an important part in and Henry Sedley.

MOVE IN CONGRESS MAY BLOCK MERGER

(By United Press)

A resolution asking the Secretary of Agriculture to report on the proposed combine was introduced by Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin. IF BACK HURTS TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

MENTHOLATUM brings refreshing relief from torturing, nervous headaches.

New York, Nov. 22.—Much like the old logic that a calf will choke himself if you give him enough rope, new systems of sport strategy are being advanced and carried out that a wise warrior will let his opponent beat himself.

There is the example of the conservative game of tennis characteristic of the Japanese players. Their idea of strategy is largely the presentation of numerous opportunities for the opponent to make errors. They seldom assume the aggressive offense and generally they content themselves with a sure return over the net with chance that an overanxious opponent will "net" or "out."

While Princeton never can be accused of a "soft" style of play, or a lack of aggressiveness, yet "Bill" Roper has developed one of the most successful football systems in the country based largely on the theory that the opposition some time in every game will make a slip.

"During this game, the opposition is going to make a mistake or fall into error and YOU BE THERE when it happens," they seem to tell the Princeton players before every game. Invariably they are there when it happens and they make the utmost of it.

The eternal vigilance of Princeton gridiron stars in following the ball has developed into such uncanny perfection that nine times out of ten it is sure death for an opposing player to fumble the ball.

Sam White went onto the list of undying heroes in Nassau's hall of fame when he grabbed two fumbles several years ago and raced for touchdowns that beat Harvard and Yale. Gray, the great end of this year's team, turned defeat into victory by grabbing a fumble in the famous Chicago game and a few weeks later in the Harvard game, when the Crimson fumbled twice, two Tigers were on the ball and they won the game.

"Follow the ball" is the first precept of every football coach, but none seem to have so thoroughly driven home the lesson as Bill Roper.

It's a great motto for any game and any profession.

Princeton's defeat of Harvard was one of the greatest surprises of the season because the Crimson lost on fumbling errors—something that is a rarity for a Harvard player.

The Harvard eleven was almost out-thought, another strange miscarriage of a system that is generally regarded as the most efficient in football.

The injury to Charley Buell was also a big factor in the defeat. Harvard specializes in the development of great quarterbacks. This year, however, there was no one to take Buell's place and the team depended so much on his judgment and balance that when he was lost, it went to pieces.

Tad Jones, the Yale coach, no doubt will welcome Bob Fisher to the fraternity of great coaches who have lost great games.

It is not to be expected, however, that Fisher's scalp will be demanded by the Crimson alumni, while many of the Yale followers have been demanding the whole hide of Jones since he lost the Iowa game.

If Iowa wins the Western Conference championship again this year, it will mean much to the Jones family. Howard can boast of his second championship team and his brother Tad can get some satisfaction in the thought that "it took the best team in the west to beat me."

Spirit of Author's Story is Excellent—Presented in "Straight is the Way"

In "Straight is the Way," the picture dramatization of "The Manifestation of Henry Ott," Ethel Watts Mumford's delightful out-of-the-ordinary story, which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre tonight and Thursday, Director Robert G. Vignola has caught the spirit injected into the story by the author and has produced a motion picture in keeping with his high reputation for screen plays.

Deft touches of brilliant satire, delightfully human characterizations, and droll situations are high lights in this production which from a scenic, histrionic, literary and directorial point of view reaches a remarkably high standard.

The exterior for this picture were taken in a historic spot. Respecting the author's psychology, Director Vignola made his exterior in the locale where the author originally set the story. This is the famous old Sands Point Homestead at Sands Point, Long Island, which was built in 1668, and which Mrs. Mumford uses as a summer residence. History mentions the fact that this house played an important part in the life of Henry Sedley.

IF BACK HURTS TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
